

Open Shuhada Street!

A joint international campaign for equality in Hebron

Since February 25, 1994 the Israeli army has enforced a policy of separation in Hebron, which includes the closure of Shuhada Street.

To this day, the street remains closed to Palestinians, severely restricting their freedom of movement within their own city.

To protest against this, people from around the world will join together in solidarity with the Palestinian residents of Hebron by organizing local events demanding the opening of Shuhada Street to Palestinians and an end to the Occupation!.
